A MESSAGE FROM THE HEADMISTRESS FOR THE CLASS OF 1968

As seniors, you are the seventy-second class of young women who have completed their preparatory studies at Barnard School. You go out with a diploma that represents more than a course of study laid down by your teachers. Your Barnard experience has been a kind of adventure as well as a quest for learning.

I hope that from your teachers here you will have learned to ask questions and that you will continue to discover things beyond your present knowledge. I hope that with your eager, dynamic courage you will help to further the meaning of truth and freedom when no man will be a foreigner to another. Our great advances in science and language communication can lead you to a true realization of the humanities. Through you an understanding of what it means to be a human being can be made to come true.

As Lincoln once said, "The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate to the stormy present. The occasion is piled high with difficulty, and we must rise with the occasion. As our cause is new, so we must think anew and act anew." This is the sincere challenge that you and I have to meet.

Along with your teachers I am happy to have shared with you some treasured hours of discussion and discovery. As you continue your search may your lives be filled with joy as you grow in the knowledge that freedom and discipline are bound together. The same modus vivendi can be pursued in both your academic and non-academic activities as you seek to know what you want most from life. In your search for answers may you ask questions that will guide your desire to give meaning to each present moment of every day.

With fond good wishes to each of you.

Marion Alice Dean, Headmistress

The Olympic Games

The spirit of the Olympic Games has been expressed by the King of Greece—

"Now that humanity has the power to destroy itself with nuclear weapons, we should ponder the original significance of the Olympic Games.

"Armed conflicts ceased; the ancient Greek warriors shed their armor and fought not for military supremacy but for athletic excellence, while their elders conferred to settle those differences which led to war.

"Thus, the Olympic Games were both a peaceful channel for the passions of human conflict and a method for the negotiated settlement of disputes.

"They were, in fact, a first reasoned step in mankind's search for peace and a lesson for peacemakers even today."

THE BARNARD SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

Founded 1896

Chartered Under the New York Regents 1935

554 FORT WASHINGTON AVENUE

Telephone SWinburne 5-1050

An Advantage

An unbroken progressive course.

Kindergarten

It is more than a nursery. It is a land of adventure.

Scholastic Standing

The school is an accredited member of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and of the New York Regents. The graduates of the school have been uniformly successful in entering college.

Buildings

The buildings are modern school buildings, completely equipped. The gymnasium is unusually large and airy, and is practically the school playground.
